Spiritual Disciplines Guide

Week of November 27, 2022

Our readings this week give some excellent samples of Praise Psalms. Pay special attention to Psalms 65, 66, 67, 68. These Psalms model for us how to better acknowledge God's character and his deeds on behalf of those who look to him. Read these psalms reflectively, considering your own life circumstances and God's faithful actions on your behalf. While we find solace and instruction in the Lament Psalms (for example Psalms 63, 64, 69, 70, 74), the Praise Psalms cause us to look back at all the ways that God has altered our lives. We praise him for his attributes of greatness, but also his attributes of goodness and kindness shown to us, his people.

Take time as you read to reflect on God's mercy and grace shown to you in your life up until this time. Gain faith and hope for the future because of God's track record to you in the past. And join King David and his contemporaries in giving God his due praise and thanksgiving. As David declares -- Those living far away fear your wonders; where morning dawns and evening fades you call forth songs of joy. (Psalm 65:8). That's you and me!

Friday: Pray for Our Missionaries
