Spiritual Disciplines Guide

Week of February 25, 2024

We'll take another week to consider some of the New Testament promises of God and then specific fulfillment in Jesus Christ (2 Corinthians 1:20). We'll camp out this week in sections of John's gospel. Notable among God's promises are some of the declarations of Christ to Nicodemus, the women at the well (I am he), to the disciples and to the Jews who heard him preach. In Jesus, God's program is both manifest and fulfilled in person. And, he projects us all forward to the ultimate fulfillment of the kingdom of God in the coming future. At present, we are caught in time between Christ's coming -- looking back to his incarnation, sacrificial life, death and resurrection, and looking forward to his final coming in power and glory. Our faith in the present is nurtured by the past but also expectant of all the good things God promises us for the future. May God do just that for you as you study his word and consider its implications for your Christian life.
