

Bible Reading 2021

Chart the Course

Old Testament

Week of August 15, 2021

This week we finish out the book of Proverbs. Notable are chapters 25-29, which are Proverbs of Solomon compiled by King Hezekiah several hundred years after Solomon's reign. Apparently he determined that more of Solomon's sayings should be included in the book. Chapters 30 and 31 continue with Proverbs from Agur and King Lemuel. These two chapters highlight the literary gimmick "There are three things, even four...." used to accent what is good, wise or noble. Of course, the second half of chapter 31 gives a portrait of the wife of noble character, exalting the various virtues of women who fear the Lord.

Meanwhile, we plod forward through the Psalms, further examining the songs and prayers of King David written in high and in low times. The combination of Proverbs - wise sayings and Psalms -- willing worship, makes for excellent devotional material. I hope you are enjoying each day's readings.
