Chart the Course

Old Testament

Week of September 19, 2021

We are edging our way up to the end of the book of Psalms. Psalms 130-145 contain several Psalms of Ascent, various Psalms of David as well as several Psalms by unnamed authors. Psalm 133 is a Psalm of Unity. Psalm 139 is a declaration of God's intimate knowledge of each of us and Psalm 137 is a psalm of exile. It was probably written several hundred years after David's time while Israel was in Babylon as captives. It would have been included in the book of Psalms later when the Septuagint version of the Old Testament was compiled in the third century B.C. Finally, Psalm 143 is an example of a classic Lament Psalm of David, probably written in a high pressure situation in the midst of battle. His call for help models to us how we too can call out to God for deliverance in any of our own "battles of life".
